Media Studies Journals

Confused about where to find peer-reviewed academic journals? This list should give you a good start. The journals below (with one exception, as noted) are all available as E-Journals through the NEU library site.

First, these are the most prominent journals in media studies. The first, Continuum, publishes work that is closest to the approaches we are using in this class.

- Continuum: Journal of Media & Cultural Studies*
- M/C: A Journal of Media and Culture*
- Feminist Media Studies*
- Critical Studies in Media Communication*
- Media, Culture & Society*
- Journal of Popular Culture*
- New Media & Society*
- Journal of Media and Communication Studies*
- Journal of Visual Communication and Image Representation*

Here are a few media journals with a global or regional non-Western focus.

- Global Media and Communication*
- Africa Media Review* (not available as an E-Journal from NEU; can be found at <http://www.codesria.org/spip.php?rubrique61>)
- BioScope: South Asian Screen Studies*
- East Asian Journal of Popular Culture*
- Asia Pacific Media Educator*

Here are a few cultural studies journals. While they don't exclusively publish media studies work, media is often a prominent aspect of the analysis. If you search these, I encourage you to find articles focused on media.

- Social Text*
- Social Identities*
- Theory, Culture & Society*

These are cultural studies journals with a global or regional non-Western focus.

- Inter-Asia Cultural Studies*
- Journal of African Cultural Studies*
- Third Text*
- Interventions: International Journal of Postcolonial Studies*
- Identities: Global Studies in Culture and Power*
- International Journal of Cultural Studies*
